

Red Water Natural Skin Care

Our Sources

1. The Red Thermal Spring Water

History

- From ancient times, thermal spring water has been acknowledged for its unique benefits to human health and beauty.
- The first written reports about thermal spring water and its therapeutic properties belong to the Greek philosopher Aristotle and the historian Xenophon. Archaeological findings and ancient documents have revealed that in the 3rd and 4th century BC thermal spring water was used for its sanitary powers in various Asklepeios (therapeutic centers in ancient Greece) located in Epidaurus, Kos and other ancient cities.
- Particularly, thermal spring water has been commonly used in ancient times as a daily natural care because of its physicochemical properties on well-being.

Facts

- Our thermal spring water comes from the Loutrochori spring, in the historic Pella – motherland of Alexander the Great.
- It is popular worldwide, as it is rich in rare minerals and trace elements of high energy and action, that provide natural and exceptionally beneficial properties to the skin's health.
- Loutrochori thermal spring water has been acknowledged as hypothermal, hypotonic, oligomineral and sulphureous, with 17 minerals and trace elements by the Analytical Chemistry Laboratory of the Aristotle Polytechnic University in Thessaloniki, Greece. The Greek Ministry of Health has also recommended its therapeutic properties for dermatological use, skin's irritations, the digestive and the muscle system.

2. Organically Cultivated Olive Oil

- Olive oil is the gift from the Greek nature that contributes to health and beauty directly. It is cultivated in the rich Mediterranean physical environment and can remain in life for more than 2000 years. The rich and beneficial properties of its fruits and leaves have been acknowledged from the ancient times, when it was considered to be the “elixir of life”.
- Olive oil is considerably rich in oleic acid, minerals and vitamins A and E, which are scientifically apodictic for their anti-ageing, regenerating and anti-oxidizing properties. Applied topically they moisturize and firm the skin, while protecting against the harmful effects of external aggressors such as sun and water. This helps prevent the formation of lines.
- Olive Oil that enjoys the unique ability to be carried and inserted in the skin directly and deeply is particularly hydrating, it nourishes and relieves the skin effectively, while it has also natural healing action.
- As a rich in beneficial properties nutriment, taken internally, olive oil strengthens the immune system, develops the cardiovascular system and provides the skin all the essential physical needs for its health and well being.
- The olive oil of Red Water™ that comes exclusively from organically cultivated olive groves without fertilizers and plant pesticides does serve and contribute all its pure and beneficial properties to the skin naturally.
